

Physician finds longstanding financial partner in Bankers Healthcare Group

The critical care physician attributes this long-standing relationship to three key characteristics, which he says, set BHG apart from traditional lenders – top-notch customer service, speed and simplicity, and the fact that BHG understands the unique financial needs of healthcare professionals.

CUSTOMER SERVICE

According to Dr. Swaminathan, because of BHG's impressive customer service and easy, over-the-phone process, he never feels the need to go elsewhere for funding.

"I feel like my BHG representatives are looking meet my best interests. Every person I've worked with has served as an advocate for delivering the funds I need."

SPEED & SIMPLICITY

He stresses that speed is critical in the healthcare industry, and how it's nice to know that if he ever needs financing, it's readily available.

"Whenever I do need funding, I know the process will be simple and BHG will be on it right away. I only need to send them two or three pieces of documentation, and usually within 48 hours, sometimes even the next day, it's a done deal."

BHG KNOWS HEALTHCARE

Finally, Swaminathan says that BHG's fast, stress-free financing model is perfectly built to accommodate the unique needs and challenges of healthcare professionals.

"BHG understands healthcare professionals. We work as hard as we can to maximize our earning potential, which can be stressful," he says. "Their refreshing approach is quick, easy and flexible with busy schedules."

Loans made in California are made or arranged pursuant to the California Financing Law, License No. 603-G493.

“It was 2006 when I first reached out to Bankers Healthcare Group to cover medical investments and consolidate debt. Now, more than ten years later, I still see BHG as my go-to financial partner.”

Dr. Rajesh Swaminathan

To read more stories about customers like Dr. Swaminathan, visit bankershealthcaregroupreviews.com.

